as one of the most significant figures in the history of western civilization the apostle paul has influenced and inspired countless individuals and institutions but for some he holds a controversial place in christianity this engaging book explores why many people have been wary of paul and what their criticisms reveal about the church and the broader culture patrick gray brings intellectual and cultural history into conversation with study of the new testament providing a balanced account and assessment of widespread antipathy to paul and exploring what the controversy tells us about ourselves the catastrophes of the twentieth century have decisively broken the grip of aristotle's fixed universe on our minds society is no longer the logical category of statecraft that is to determine our lives the glorious horrors of fascism discredited the survival of the fittest upstaged even by the compulsory class equality of the soviets instead we now appeal to culture and mutual communication as we hope to grow together in response to each other the universe itself at last is open ended particle physics and the genetic code ensure diversity for us all our individual gifts will reveal our identity and our mission in life we are indeed personally answerable for the choices we make the twenty first century's great leap forward is jerusalem's long foreshadowed answer to athens not logic but experiment has been the mainspring that has unlocked it the transformed life of the apostle paul in christ first experienced the developmental prospect that has inspired the cultural reformation of our time based on recent studies in intercultural communication kathy ehrensperger applies the paradigm of multilingualism which includes the recognition of cultural distinctiveness to the study of paul paul s role as apostle to the nations is seen as the role of a go between as that of cultural translator this role requires that he is fully embedded in his own tradition but must also be able to appreciate and understand aspects of gentile culture paul is viewed as involved in a process in which the meaning of the christ event is being negotiated in the space between cultures with their diverse cultural coding systems and cultural encyclopaedias it is argued that this is not a process of imposing jewish culture on gentiles at the expense of gentile identity nor is it a process of eradication of jewish identity rather paul s theologizing in the space between implies the task of negotiating the meaning of the christ event in relation to and in appreciation of both jewish and gentile identity a rapidly changing world in part driven by huge transformations in technology and mobility means we all encounter shifting cultures and new cultural and social interactions daily powerful forces such as consumption and globalization exert an enormous influence on all walks and levels of life across both space and time cultural studies remains at the vanguard of consideration of these issues this completely revised second edition of introducing cultural studies gives a systematic overview of the concepts theories debates and latest research in the field reinforcing the interdisciplinary nature of cultural studies it first considers cultural theory before branching out to examine different dimensions of culture in detail key features collaboratively authored by an interdisciplinary team closely cross referenced between chapters and sections to ensure an integrated presentation of ideas figures diagrams cartoons and photographs help convey ideas and stimulate key influence defining concepts and extract boxes focus in on major thinkers ideas and works examines culture along the dividing lines of class race and gender weblinks and further reading sections encourage and support further investigation changes for this edition brand new chapter addresses how culture is researched and knowledge in cultural studies is produced brand new chapter on the postmodernisation of everyday life includes hot topics such as globalization youth subcultures virtual cultures body modification new media technologically assisted social networking and many more this text will be core reading for undergraduates and postgraduates in a variety of disciplines including cultural studies communication and media studies english geography sociology and social studies looking for a clear and comprehensible introduction to the field in liquid ecclesiology pete ward explores the theological contours of the turn to ethnography in the study of the christian church his approach rests on a theology of culture that holds in tension and paradox the expression of the church and divine presence this theological framework is then developed through an extended qualitative empirical case study examining the communicative practices of the contemporary evangelical church the case study examines how the evangelical gospel through expression has become marginalised in the everyday life of communities being replaced by a new more individual and personalised theology seen in worship songs the final section of the book returns to the debates around ethnographic forms of theology and the question of normativity this book will be of interest to all those engaged in empirical and theological work as well as those researching the contemporary church and evangelicalism leadership points of connection developed from the realization that leadership is about making connections in all walks of life but connections are not just for leaders points of connection are specific interactions with others that bring about illumination creativity innovation and discussions that help relationships grow and organizations expand connections can unite people for a common purpose that impacts an organization or community for good meaningful connections can be intentional business meetings or spontaneous moments that leave a long lasting impact the author defines each type of connection along with leadership principles in each chapter through authenticity transformation and service real life experience and practical examples demonstrate how points of connection can make a difference to individuals organizations and communities each chapter ends with thought provoking questions that encourage the reader to know who they are what they have to offer others and how to make a positive impact through a point of connection the author hopes that the reader will learn that points of connection go beyond what s in it for me to the encouragement of others through authentic transformational connections that positively impact people and communities first published by oxford university press new york 1959 first issued as an oxford university press paperback 1964 includes bibliographical references in this provocative book now reissued with a new introduction paul gilroy contends that race thinking has distorted the finest promises of modern democracy he compels us to see that fascism was the principal political innovation of the twentieth century and that its power to seduce did not die in a bunker in berlin between camps addresses questions such as why do we still divide humanity into different identity groups based on skin colour did all the good done by the civil rights movement and the decolonization of the third world have such little lasting effect gilroy examines the ways in which media and commodity culture have become pre eminent in our lives in the years since the 1960s and especially in the 1980s with the rise of hip hop and other militancies with this trend he contends much that was valuable about black culture has been sacrificed in the service of corporate interests and new forms of cultural expression tied to visual technologies he argues that the triumph of the image spells death to politics and reduces people to mere symbols at its heart between camps is a utopian project calling for the renunciation of race gilroy champions a new humanism global and cosmopolitan and he offers a new political language and a new moral vision for what was once called anti racism
